Quick recap

In this class session, Shrey Naresh Solanki took over from the regular professor and organized the class into discussion pods centered around a podcast. Shrey then opened the floor for questions before concluding the session.

Summary

Class Pods Discuss Podcast in Shrey's Session

Shrey Naresh Solanki led a class session in place of the usual professor. The class was divided into pods to discuss a podcast, <https://www.thisamericanlife.org/370/ruining-it-for-the-rest-of-us> (Prologue only) which was the primary focus of the day. Shrey mentioned that there would be some disruptions in the usual routine, suggesting a change in the usual dynamics of the class.

In the podcast, Will Felps hired an actor named Nick to test these personality types by hiring college students to participate in experiments where they would work together for 45 minutes on a task and videotape their performance.

Aesthetics Overlap Concern Addressed

Shrey then opened the floor for questions, indicating that the class was done for the day. Ian expressed a concern about the possibility of overlapping aesthetics in their work, to which Shrey reassured him that it was acceptable.
